

I urge the FCC to reject Chairman Powell's proposed change to cross-ownership rules that would allow greater concentration of ownership than allowed under current regulations. In my view this imperils the free market of ideas and subjects American democracy to inordinate risk without a compensating benefit. Although I practice law and have represented media and telecom clients, the view expressed here represent my personal opinion and not those of anyone I represent.